Reporting and Data Analytics Repository (RaDAR)

RaDAR is a central repository for the campus community to access relevant data in a variety of formats. The RaDAR site will provide a single point of entry to reports, analyses, the campus data dictionary and the campus report repository. As a data driven institution California State University San Marcos requires a coherent and consolidated system to satisfy the needs of campus data aggregation, reporting, analysis, and delivery.

To this end the campus has the goal of delivering a solution that satisfies these requirements in a timely fashion and incorporates necessary security, scalability, and usability. The first phase of the project will focus on student related data but will expand over time based on user needs.

Find Reports by Category

Click on any category listed on the left menu to see related reports.

Search

Type words in the Search box above and click Search to get a listing of reports with those words in the report name or description.

Please be advised that some of the words or acronyms that you type in the search box may be found as part of another unrelated word. For example, if you search for 'GE', your search results may consist of reports that use the words 'usage' or 'age' in their report descriptions, besides genuine 'GE' reports.

Share Cool Reports That You've Developed

Please email radar@csusm.edu if you have a report, listing, audit that you've developed that could be of use to others and we'll see if it can be automated and made available to campus users.
